Practical Legal Training (PLT)

About Leo Cussen

Leo Cussen has been operating since 1972 and we continue to be recognised as a centre of excellence for providing high quality practical legal training. Our Graduate Diploma in Legal Practice is highly comprehensive and well respected by the legal profession.

At Leo Cussen, our trainees learn how to practise law in a very professional, yet friendly and engaging environment. In our online blended learning program, you work predominantly online but with 13 days of face-to-face instruction to give you a more personalised mentoring program. Alternatively, you can undertake our full-time onsite course from Melbourne's CBD, where we find your professional placement for you.

We believe that practical legal training should be just that, practical. That's why both our onsite and online training programs incorporate small group training, comprehensive and personalised mentoring and feedback, to provide the finest practical training experience.

Why Leo Cussen

- Offered online, onsite, full-time, part-time, with weekend options available.
- Established since 1972, excellent reputation.
- Highly practical course with 'learning by doing' and no exams.
- Small group training to provide the finest practical training experience.
- Develop excellent advocacy skills through civil and criminal file work.
- Build skills and confidence with a personalised mentoring program.
- Thorough and challenging with a simulated file program to best prepare you.
- Our graduates work in a range of legal and professional environments around the world.
- Access to career support services through graduate placement and career advisor.
